

March 10, 2010

MediaBit GmbH
Otto-Hahn-Straße 14
85609 Aschheim
Germany
<http://www.mediabit.de>

To whom it may concern:

For several years, Red Hat Inc. has worked with MediaBit GmbH to produce CDs and DVDs for the Fedora Project. This relationship has been handled by Red Hat's marketing team in Munich, and the bills have been paid by Red Hat Inc.

The Fedora Project is a community-driven activity, and it is our desire to have a Fedora Project contributor to handle the communications with MediaBit GmbH, rather than a Red Hat Inc. employee.

Sascha Thomas Spreitzer (<https://fedoraproject.org/wiki/User:Sspreitzer>), voluntary contributor to the Fedora Project, will be until further notice the primary point of contact between the Fedora Project and MediaBit GmbH.

Red Hat Inc. will continue to be fully liable for the orders of the Fedora Project. All responsibility for the Fedora CD and DVD orders rests with Red Hat. Sascha will serve in a communications and logistics role, handling until further notice the relations and business orders between MediaBit GmbH and the Fedora Project on behalf of Red Hat Inc.

Red Hat Inc. and the Fedora Project,

2010 - 03 - 11

Max Spevack
Manager, Community Architecture, Red Hat Inc.
Raleigh, in the state of North Carolina in the USA.

Date

2010 - 03 - 15

Sascha Thomas Spreitzer
Voluntary and delegated contributor and ambassador, the Fedora Project
Munich, in the state of Bavaria in Germany.

Date